On behalf of the Executive Committee and the Board of Directors of IACA, it is my honor and pleasure to announce our 17th year hosting India Day here in Augusta, GA. This year, we will be hosting India Day 2010 on October 2nd, at The Maxwell Performing Arts Theatre, of Augusta State University.

We are so excited about our upcoming India Day celebration and we look forward to having all of your participation this year! What makes our event so special is the entire community coming together and not only putting on a fabulous cultural show, but also spreading our rich Indian culture to the entire CSRA. We know this year will be better than ever as we celebrate India's 63rd year of Independence, and we encourage all of you to participate.

As the new President of IACA, I would also like to encourage all of you to be involved in IACA, and become a member. As a member of IACA, I have had the privilege of being affiliated in an organization that not only gives back to the community, but also provides a forum for all of us to display our rich Indian heritage. We are so lucky to have a long-standing organization such as IACA in our community, and I hope that more people will take advantage of it.

Finally, I would like to say, I am honored and privileged to be your president this year, and am very excited about our upcoming year of events!

Sincerely,

Nandini Talukdar-Mitra
